

COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROJECT

Shangri-La's Community Education Project, in partnership with Oregon Corrections Division and the Connections Program, is now sponsoring a "School Supply Giveaway" program for children of men incarcerated at Oregon State Correctional Institution (OSCI) in Salem.

Many children, who visit their fathers that are currently incarcerated, come from low-income, challenging living situations and cannot afford even the most basic supplies for the new school year.

This year, CEP Volunteers want to make an positive impact on the lives of young school age children who are urgently in need of help. During the next few months, CEP Volunteers are seeking donations of new school supplies for these needy children.

If you are interested in hearing more about this worthwhile project, how to make a donation or are willing to sponsor a collection barrel at your company, contact: Pam Halpin, CEP Coordinator, at 503-581-1732, ext. 361.

In the past, CEP Volunteers have participated in food drives for the homeless, fundraisers for disadvantaged youth, a crochet program at OSCI and other local community projects.
